

Tell me about your student in a million words or less!

Rather than giving the students a homework assignment on the first day, I decided to give one to YOU! Here is your task: Tell me about your student in a million words or less! The purpose of this assignment is to learn as much about your student as I can in order to help our school year run smoothly. You can share with me as much or as little as you'd like. It is your chance to share with me anything you think I should or would like to know about your child. I have attached a sheet of paper for you to write on. If you need more space, feel free to attach your own sheets. Thank you in advance for your time and cooperation! I am excited to learn about my students from the people who know them the very best 😊.
